Col. Svaffar

EXECUTIVE SECRETARY,
AMERICAN SHORTHORN ASSOCIATION

During the past year the Board of Directors of the American Shorthorn Association acted upon many facets concerned with our breed improvement. Resolutions passed after long hours of deliberation and weeks of research and study clearly pointed out the road for Shorthorn breeders to travel so the Shorthorn and Polled-Shorthorn cattle could continue the steady gains shown the past few years.

One of the major actions taken by the Board was on Blood Typing of Bulls used for artificial insemination and the resolution which follows was passed unanimously:

"In order to be eligible for registration, any calf conceived by artificial insemination after January 1, 1965, the blood type of the SERVICE SIRE must be recorded with the American Shorthorn Association."

By way of explanation:

Application for blood typing bulls used for artificial insemination, even though a bull is owned by one, is to be made directly to the ASA. The application sent by the owner to the Association will be forwarded to Columbus, Ohio. The laboratory will send complete instructions, along with a container for the blood sample, directly to the owner. The owner will receive specific instructions—shipping instructions so that the blood sample will arrive at the laboratory on a pre-determined date. Each owner will be forwarded a copy of the blood type report and a copy will also be filed at the home office of the American Shorthorn Association.

It is important that any owner using or anticipating the use of a bull for artificial insemination contact the American Shorthorn so that arrangements can be worked out with the laboratory.

A firm position was taken regarding the importation of semen by the Board when it went on record as opposing the importation of semen from foreign countries for use in the United States.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture had previously made a proposal which would allow importation of semen collected under specified rules from countries infested with rinderpest and foot and mouth disease.

Your Secretary was advised to submit this resolution to proper authorities and to continue to oppose the importation of semen.

Regulations for progeny testing and identification were adopted:

First, the herd must be classified in order to participate in the progeny testing and identification program.

Weights are to be taken at 205 days and 365 days. The 205 day weight may be taken from 180 to 240 days and adjustment made either forward or back to the 205 day weight. The following schedule is the adjustment for the age of the dam:

Age of dam:

- 2 year.....multiply the computed 205 day weight by 1.15
- 3 year.....multiply the computed 205 day weight by 1.10
- 4 year.....multiply the computed 205 day weight by 1.05
- 5 yr. thru 10....no adjustment for age of dam

11 yr. & up....multiply the computed 205 day weight by 1.05

Yearling weights (365 day) are to be taken between 350-400 days. These weights to be computed separately on each sex. And, there will be no adjustment of the 265 day weight for the age of the dam.

The weights are to be submitted to the American Shorthorn Ass'n on forms which will be provided by the Association.

Weights are to be verified by any of the following: (1) State BCIA official, (2) County Agent, or (3) Vocational Agricultural Instructor.

The Association will issue a certificate showing the 205 and 365 day weight and will compute the life time average daily gain. The certificate for the animal will have this information so indicated. In addition, there will be a designation of the handling of the calves to the 205 day weight whether on creep feeding, nurse cow, or no additional feed other than dam's milk.

The number of calves entered in the project are to be designated by the owner. In instances where there is a 100% participation (where all calves are entered in the program) the certificate issued by the American Shorthorn Association will so indicate the 100% participation.

Also a resolution regarding the use of transfer application forms was adopted which is explained in a separate article.

Colorado Juniors Continue Progress

The recent Colorado Junior Short-horn Club Steer and Heifer Sale at Greeley, Colorado proved to be a marked success.

Loretta Mathias, president of the Junior Association, reported steers averaged $157 and heifers $303.

Many compliments were received by the Jrs. on the fine booth and Shorthorn display they had at the sale.

Shorthorn Beef Charts

Hinky-Dinky Supermarkets of Omaha, Nebraska, distributed 5000 copies of the American Shorthorn Association beef guide charts during a one day promotion.

Registration Errors Costly

by Paul J. Hamilton,
Office Manager

290 applications for registration out of 3,945 received during the month of November were in error. These had to be returned to the senders for necessary correction.

The majority of the errors were not from new inexperienced members but from old time breeders who registered many cattle each year. The errors consisted of many miscellaneous reasons and the most prevalent were "no birthdate" and a "signature not conforming with membership" or "owner of the dam."

The 290 errors constituted about 8% of applications received. The errors cost your association dollars. Each letter returned requires 5c postage and a return postage envelope was also enclosed to insure return—this added another 8c to the postage costs. In addition, time was required to check the applications, write and type the letter of explanation and have the mail clerk mail. To prepare an ordinary business letter cost accounting figures show each letter to cost from 27c to 35c. This represents but a portion of the cost to your association of a registration application that is in error.

In order to curtail these errors each breeder would take the Manual and review the steps required in completing an application for registration. The completed application should be rechecked before it is forwarded to headquarters. This procedure would eliminate many errors by those sending in registration applications.

An application for registration received that is in error takes a week to be processed and mailed back to the breeder for the necessary correction. And, several applications for registration with just one application not correct holds up the complete package until the application in error is corrected and returned to the office.

Lets give more attention to the applications for registration.

Montana Shorthorn Association

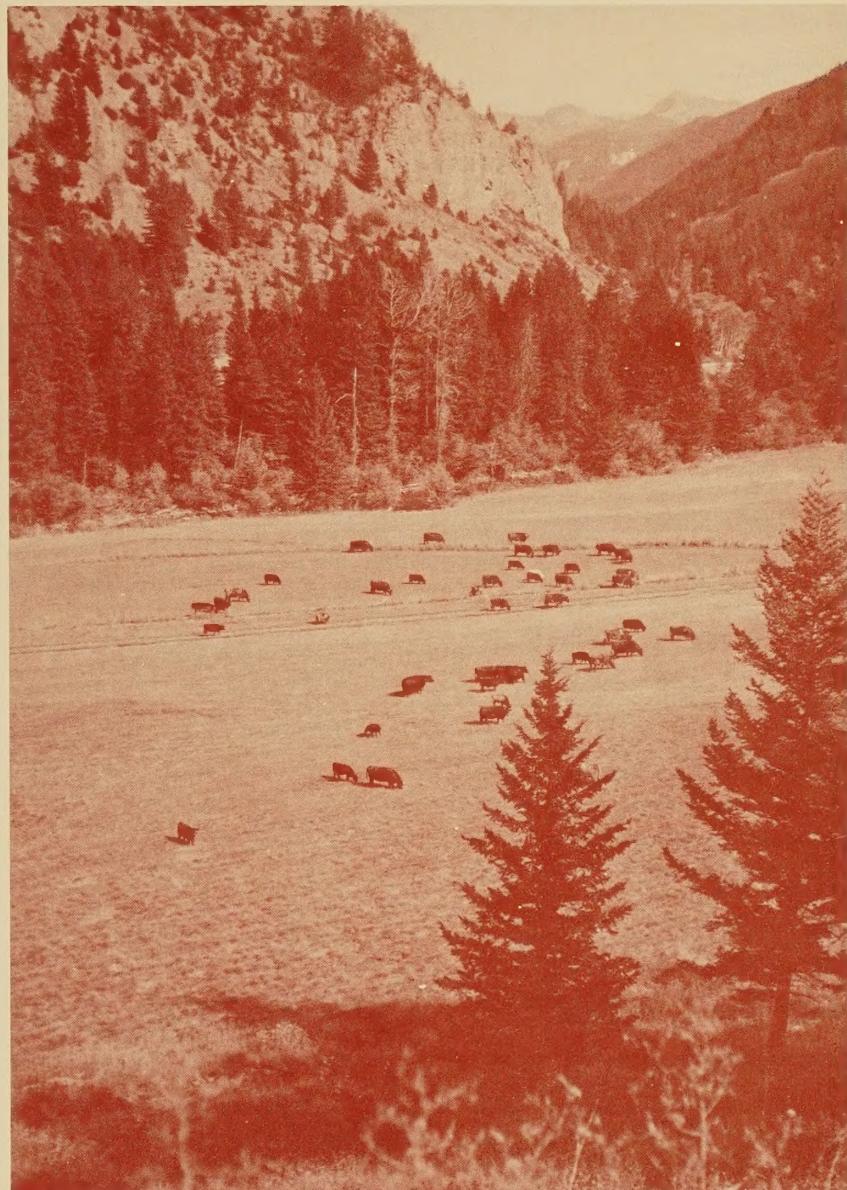

Take Giant Step Forward

In the land of beautiful scenery and wonderful summers but with cold snowy and harsh winters dedicated Shorthorners are taking giant steps forward in the promotion of our breed.

At the recent annual meeting of the association, Martin Lohr of Park City was named president, Ray Norby of Fair View, vice-president and C. Wendell Lovely of Wilsall, secretary.

THE SHORTHORN CHINOOK, Montana's membership letter carried several ideas and promotion programs which bear merit and stir up thinking processes in other associations to compare programs to see if giant steps are being taken on a nation wide basis.

Notable points considered by the Montana Association at the annual meeting were the approval of a "trophy to the Grand Champion steer of any County or State Fair when exhibited by a junior member. It was felt by those present that the Breeders themselves could assume fieldman duties by more personal contact and it was generally agreed that they would make every effort to do so. So you breeders who are in areas that are not represented by officers or directors of our Association should make an effort to do some of this personal contact and spread the gospel of the Shorthorn cow. The ways to expand funds of our promotional funds were discussed and it was moved that our Board of Directors be authorized to expand these funds as they saw fit. It is only through adequate financing that the promotional activities of this Association be carried out. So if you have not donated a heifer calf for this fund, perhaps the feeder sale would be the opportunity you need to do this. To the retiring officers who have so faithfully guided the activities of this State Association through the past few years, we ask that you accept our humble "thank you." We realize that you have spent many hours of time attending to the business of the State Association, time that you should have been spending with your own business. Thank you for your time and efforts."

Shorthorns find grazing plentiful on a Montana pasture.

"Shorthorn Promotional Ideas—Shorthorn promotion to be effective must start at the grass roots and there are many things that you as breeders can do to fulfill this obligation. I am going to list some things that I feel are quite important and if they are suitable to your operation, perhaps you could make an attempt to use some of them.

- 1) See that a 4-H member in your neighborhood capable of doing a good feeding job has a Shorthorn steer as one of his or her projects. Interest instilled in a young person will long be remembered.
- 2) Finance some worthy 4-H or Jun-

TRANSFERS FORMS
EFFECTIVE JAN. 1, 1965

The Board of Directors of the American Shorthorn Association adopted a resolution effective January 1, 1965 for the use of an application for transfer.

Shown on this page is a sample application for transfer that will be used after the first of the year.

Application blanks are available for use from headquarters at 25c for a block of 30 forms. A quick look at the application shows that it is self-explanatory.

After the first of the year the transfer will not be completed on the back of the pedigree or on the application for registration as has been done in the past. The application for transfer will be filled out on the new form and sent with pedigree certificate or application for registration of the animal to be transferred.

The transfer on the pedigree or application for registration will be completed by the transfer department at the association headquarters and the pedigree certificate returned to the seller.

The completed application for transfer form will be kept in file in the American Shorthorn Association office for future reference.

RULES GOVERNING TRANSFERS

The recorded owner of any registered Shorthorn at any stated time is the owner as recorded in the entry of such animal in the American Shorthorn Association records; if such animal has been transferred after said entry, then such owner is the last transferee thereof, shown on the record of transfers kept in the office of this association.

An application for transfer of a registered Shorthorn should be made upon the blank provided by the Association therefor, and must be executed by the recorded owner of such animal or by the legal representative. The certificate of registration must accompany the application.

An entry or transfer shall be annulled and the certificate thereof recalled and cancelled if the Board of Directors decide that the data for such transfer is erroneous in any essential particular, or that the same was made for the purpose of defrauding or circumventing regulations.

For each application and transfer filed within thirty (30) days from the date of actual delivery of animal; MEMBERS $2.00; NON MEMBERS $4.00.

For each application and transfer filed more than thirty (30) days after date of actual delivery of the animal: MEMBERS $4.00; NON MEMBERS $8.00.

All fees invariably payable in advance.

Transfer books twenty-five cents (25¢) each.

Bob Heine Appointed Official Classifier for American Shorthorn Association

Bob Heine

The appointment of Robert B. "Bob" Heine, Drayton, North Dakota as Official Classifier for the American Shorthorn Association has been announced by C. D. Swaffar, Executive Secretary. Mr. Heine assumed his duties as of December 1, 1964.

Bob Heine's knowledge of Shorthorns comes from a life long career as his father first registered Shorthorns in 1910. Bob took over the home farm in 1923 and managed it until 1944 when he left for a five year stretch to do county agent work, supervise management of 110 farms in Minnesota for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company and serve as director of agriculture for the American Sugar Company.

However, in 1949 he could not resist the call of Shorthorns and moved to Florida to build a herd in Marion county. The firm of "Bob and Laura" flourished until he was persuaded to take over as Fieldman in Southeast United States for the Shorthorn Association in 1956. He spent six years with the Association but due to the ill health of his wife, Laura, he left in August of 1962 to return to his farm in Drayton where Mrs. Heine passed away in December, 1963.

Bob has two sons, Dr. Wayne, a physician in Gainesville, Florida and Robert Jr., who carries on at the home ranch in Drayton.

Many honors have been bestowed on Robert G. Heine for his work with Shorthorns. He was the first person honored in "The World Salutes" column in the Shorthorn World and was named a "Builder of the Breed" in 1960.

"Bob's knowledge of Shorthorns, his wide friendship with Shorthorn breeders, and his enthusiasm for the breed will be of utmost value in our Classification program. We are very happy that Bob has decided to return to active work with us," said the Executive Secretary as he announced the appointment.

- 3) Offer your herd to 4-H and FFA for use in judging contest, etc.
- 4) Put up an attractive road sign to direct stockmen and other interested people to your ranch.
- 5) When going to a Shorthorn sale or gathering, take a neighbor along. He may not be interested today, but who knows when he will have a change of mind?
- 6) Visit as many commercial breeders as your time will allow, especially those who have purchased cattle from you.
- 7) Single out a breeder within your area whom you think could be converted to a Shorthorn breeder and use as much persuasion as possible to get the job accomplished. (Can you imagine what the bull requirements would be in 5 to 7 years if each breeder converted one rancher of other breeds to the Shorthorn ranks each year?)

These are a few of the things that I feel can be done to promote Shorthorns, but it is up to you. No one but yourself can accomplish these things and no one will gain more. Consequently, no one stands to lose more should you decide to sit idly by.

New Field Man—In our exhilarated promotion plans, the Board of Directors has secured the services of George Holecek to serve as Fieldman in the State of Montana and Northern Wyoming. We feel that George is highly qualified and can be of great assistance to some of the old breeders as well as the young.

He has a thorough knowledge of Shorthorn pedigrees and his success as a former breeder indicates he has the eye and judgment to select the good ones. If you feel that George can be of any assistance in your area, may I encourage you to contact and make arrangements with him to spend some time with you. We hope that there are breeders around the State who know of cattlemen that are breeding cattle of other breeds but could be converted with a little information and encouragement from someone within the Shorthorn ranks. George can be contacted at his home at 515 6th Ave., Laurel, Montana."

As we go to press word has been received that Bob will return home for Christmas. His condition can only be described as "excellent." Pete has asked me to convey his, Irene's and Bob's sincere and thankful gratitude for the many, many letters, telegrams, flowers, etc. received after the tragic accident to Bob. These expressions of concern from friends helped alleviate the long hours of anxious and worried waiting while under the hour to hour tension of the uncertain future. The article reprinted with the permission of the author and the Omaha World-Herald vividly depicts the situation and paints a picture we will always remember.

Young Men Tested on Night of Horror

As related by Pat Quinn of the school's sports information office, there are fantastic coincidences in the story of basket ball player Bob Swaffar's grim accident at Oklahoma State University.

Bob is the son of C. D. Swaffar, executive secretary of the American Shorthorn Association.

Most sports page readers must know that Bob's right arm was twisted off while he was using a water extractor in the Athletic Department laundry room.

The arm became wedged in a drum making one thousand revolutions per minute. The six-foot-nine athlete was hurled to the floor. Following emergency treatment in Stillwater and a 66-mile drive to Oklahoma City, the arm was rejoined during night-long surgery at Oklahoma University Hospital.

That was two weeks ago, and a long, hopeful vigil continues.

THEY KEPT COOL

It seems a miracle that Bob's companion of that fateful evening, fellow basket ball player Gary Hassmann, was a pre-med student with great presence of mind.

Hassmann, incidentally, is a grant-in-aid athlete from Louisville, Ky., and president of the senior class. What harsh irony that he would be called a "freeloader" by critics of this educational system!

Another basketball player, sophomore Jim Watson of McAlester, Oklahoma, walked into the laundry immediately after the accident. Last summer he worked as a part-time ambulance driver in McAlester.

While a third athlete telephoned for an ambulance Hassmann and Watson efficiently tended to Swaffar and took steps to preserve the arm. Doctors remarked later that correct procedures followed by these young men made the reimplantation possible.

Quinn's observation: "Athletes are taught to retain their poise under pressure. Could there be a more graphic illustration of a lesson learned?"

AIDED BY RESEARCH

During emergency treatment at a Stillwater hospital, a doctor recalled that a medical team in Oklahoma City had been experimenting for several years on reimplantation techniques.

The experiments were conducted with animals, a point to mention the next time some group screams and weeps at alleged medical "cruelty" in this field.

Let them plead their case before the parents of Bob Swaffar.

A TEAM EFFORT

According to Quinn, Bob's pulse rate never exceeded 80 while he was being cared for in Stillwater and, later that night, in Oklahoma City.

At no time was his over-all physical condition less than "excellent."

It was a national "team effort" and gave heartening encouragement to the surgeons in Oklahoma City, Bob's family and his many friends.

In the days that have followed, Bob has heard from coaches and athletes throughout the Big Eight Conference—and from America at large. His rooting section is vast.

WE UNDERRATE

The story of that night of horror in Stillwater tells us a number of things.

Foremost, perhaps, is the reminder that we tend to underrate the competence of our young people.

We also are told that top coaches such as OSU's Henry Iba do mold men . . . that medical science is, indeed, a marvel . . . and that most of us have only small problems.

Junior Activities--

By Sherman Berg

Junior Activities of our Association took a giant step forward in 1964 when a review revealed increased participation in all phases of Junior Activities.

More than 3,000 junior members are now listed in the files of national headquarters. Statistics point out that 856 of these youngsters are active in registering and transferring Shorthorn and Polled Shorthorn cattle.

Twelve states have organized activity as compared with four a year ago. 450 junior members take an active part in these states.

Since last June six Junior Association Field Days have been held and they were attended by some 2,200 young adults interested in promoting Shorthorns and Polled Shorthorns.

Although '64 was a year of progress the outlook for 1965 is far greater than the past year for increased activity of Juniors.

The foregoing figures are just a minor part of the untapped field of today's youths who are interested in Shorthorns. And as junior interest increases and as numbers continue to expand, it all points to the tremendous number of potential life-time members in the American Shorthorn Association.

Our expanded youth program is

Plans are under discussion for awards designed to help junior members further their education.

LINDA McCOY SHOWS

GRAND CHAMPION STEER

Linda McCoy, Grand Blanc, Michigan, Bilmar Farms, showed her Shorthorn to the Grand Championship over all breeds in the junior Division of the Michigan State Fair. Her brother, David McCoy, had the reserve Grand Champion Shorthorn in the same show.

SHORTHORN CARCASSES TOP GENERAL AVERAGE

A study of carcass figures compiled at the 18th annual Midwest Carcass show by Hormel at Austin, Minnesota indicated that Shorthorn carcasses were superior to the general average.

Ninety-one steers of all breeds qualified for the carcass show and the Shorthorn average as to yield, loin eye area and back fat covering proved higher than the general averages. This average also includes Shorthorn figures which makes the Shorthorn advantage even greater.

The General Average in yield was 64.1% Shorthorn yield 65.1% higher than the average.

Loin Eye per CWT general average 1.85 sq. in. Shorthorn 1.96 sq. in. .11 sq. in. better than the general average.

Fat cover per CWT general average .12 in. Shorthorn .096. A .024 in less fat cover per CWT.

Glamis Benefactor had his picture printed over 8,000,000 times in the December 11th, issue of Life Magazine. But here he gazes unconcernedly at the crowd in the lobby of the hotel where his owners Pat and Dave Lorenz were hosts to some 300 guests at a cocktail party. Gordon Phillips, farm manager of the Lorenz's, handled Glamis Benefactor so that he showed he was the champion he is when he was surrounded by flashing cameras, and hundreds of people, as traffic came to a stop on busy Kansas City streets to see the champion bull at the American Royal.

JUST SUSAN--but--OH! WHAT SHORTHORN PUBLICITY

by Jerry Swisher,
Director of Public Relations

Once in a great while along comes what a PR man calls a "natural." Such was Susanna E Huxley, a pretty, little, blue-eyed blond I met at the American Royal Livestock show in Kansas City. When such "natural" happens and is properly given the right push to get under way the story grows and grows and grows. This was the reaction after the first Susan story appeared.

The end is not yet in sight as future developments, now in the making, may be of interest to news media and Shorthorn will be further mentioned.

It is interesting to hear about the "how and why" this Shorthorn publicity started. Betty Royon, Vice President, Acadia Farms nonchalantly mentioned the fact to me that Susan Huxley, great-granddaughter of Sir Julian Huxley, distinguished British biologist, author and speaker; grandniece of the late author, Aldous Huxley was "a working guest of Acadia" and was helping take care of Acadia show cattle at the Royal. That if Susan could be used to help promote Shorthorn she, Susan, was more than willing to do so.

The story idea was first given to the Kansas City Times and a picture and story used. The Times started the ball rolling by using a two column picture and a human interest angle—"One elbow propped on a bale of hay, her jeans and boot-clad legs curled up beside her, she shared a straw-strewn stall with a champion Shorthorn, etc." Then the wire services picked up the story and this portion of the Susan and Shorthorn story went round the world.

Then things began to snowball for Susan and Shorthorns—in the meantime she had returned to Cleveland but Life Magazine caught up with her—flew her back to Kansas City—took over 200 pictures—and used one picture of her in the three page spread which appeared in Life December 11th—this was the picture of Susan resting comfortably on the back of Glamis Benefactor owned by

Why did newspapers, wire services, radio and television pick up and use this publicity in which our breed was mentioned time after time? News media know full well that the American public go for the unusual—and this was a very interesting and remarkable story.

Now we'll take a look at the reasons why the story received so much valuable space and time. If we were to buy the same amount of advertising space and time it would have cost over $150,000.00 to get Shorthorns before the public. And this is a conservative estimate.

Although she is just Susan to her Shorthorn friends, her pedigree exceeds those of the Shorthorns she loves. Susan's great-great-grandfather, defended Charles Darwin. Her grandfather is Sir Julian, the eminent biologist and writer, her great-uncle, Aldous, is the famous novelist, and her father, Anthony, is co-editor of two British magazines.

From the north, south, east, and west articles were written about Susan and Shorthorns so lets take a few excerpts from some of the papers to see what they had to write about:

AKRON BEACON JOURNAL, Akron, Ohio—"The registered Shorthorn cattle that she grooms care naught that her pedigree is as long as theirs. The barn kitten, Chessie Jr., hangs around to be petted without a worry of family background—its or hers. Farmhands, accustomed to the comings and goings of Cyrus S. Eaton's great and near-great guests, like the easy-going, good-natured Susanna E. Huxley"

KANSAS CITY TIMES, Kansas City, Mo.—"One elbow propped on a bale of hay, her jeans and boot-clad legs curled up beside her, she shared a straw-strewn stall with a champion Shorthorn—".

THE DAILY MAIL, London, England—"calling herself 'the black sheep of the family'—Sir Julian Huxley's granddaughter Susanna, is working as a farm hand in Ohio—says Susanna; 'I've always been nuts on animals'."

NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE, New York City—"Like grandfather, she's interested in biology. She decided to help out with pitchfork and shovel at the Kansas City stock show."

THE PLAIN DEALER, Cleveland, Ohio—"admires one of Cyrus Eaton's prize Shorthorn bulls—the pretty blonde led the bull into the ring as gently as Mary must have led the little lamb in the children's nursery rhyme."

SPORTS ILLUSTRATED—"The prettiest farmhand around, blonde, pageboy-cut Susan Huxley—"

THE NEWS AMERICAN, Baltimore, Maryland—"I love these Shorthorns, as far as I'm concerned they're the best—As she started off for the show ring dragging a lumbering Shorthorn after her, Susanna said that she expects to make her permanent home in this country, working with cattle, of course."

CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago, Ill.

Cow Has 25th Calf

Noah Flett, Blooming Springs, Tenn., says that if his 25-year-old Shorthorn cow doesn't have the longest production record of any he would be interested in hearing of one that bests this record. He has a commercial Shorthorn cow that was calved August 26, 1939. He recently weaned her 25th calf and she is bred back to produce her 26th next spring. Flett says the old gal has not had any teeth for eight years, but she stays in good flesh and still gives plenty of milk to raise a healthy calf. The cow was bred and raised by Flett and is of registered Shorthorn ancestry.

NEW BUYERS -- September - October - November

The New Buyers listed on the next five pages have been prepared for membership, information, and use. This list should also be very valuable to each and every one having Shorthorns and Polled Shorthorns for sale. It is up to you—take a close look at the names in your state—you may find a neighbor or a friend listed. If so, have you previously called on him? Is he happy with the Shorthorn he purchased? Has he any questions? Has he been approached for membership?

Many times a new buyer, after his initial purchase, has very minor contact with Shorthorn breeders. A friendly greeting and the knowledge that he belongs to a close knit fraternity will go far in helping him become an active and progressive breeder of Shorthorns or Polled Shorthorns.

So take a good hard look at the names in your area and try to contact them. If he is a new buyer of only one bull or one female he may be in the market for others—if he is contacted and made to realize he is one of us. And, you may be able to answer a question he has about Shorthorns that he'll ask you and will not write the Association and ask.

Go contact the new-buyer, visit with him, welcome him into the Shorthorn fold and send me a letter about your visit. We'll publish the letter best suited for Promotion of Shorthorns. Just send to Jerry Swisher, American Shorthorn Association, 8288 Hascall Street, Omaha, Nebraska, 68124. If you write—we'll answer.

Let's contact our new buyers.
